

CITY IS ENJOINED FROM PAYING OVER 25 PER CENT OF W. S. CROSSING COST

Judge Hasbrouck Grants Application of Edward Coykendall, Supported by Affidavits of Delancy N. Mathews and Albert H. Cook, Who Say Job as Planned Would Be Wasteful and Require Abnormal Rate of Interest.

On the application of Judge Clearwater, counsel for Edward Coykendall, Judge G. D. B. Hasbrouck has granted an order of injunction in the taxpayers' action brought by Mr. Coykendall against the city, the mayor, the common council, the city treasurer and the commissioners of public works restraining them from paying more than twenty-five per centum of the cost of the elimination of the Broadway crossing. The facts are fully set forth in Mr. Coykendall's complaint, and in the order of injunction granted by Judge Hasbrouck, which are so important that they are herewith published in full. The papers in the case were served upon some of the defendants today by Sheriff Wright J. Smith.

In addition to the complaint of Mr. Coykendall and his affidavit accompanying it are the affidavits of Delancy N. Mathews, president of the State of New York National Bank, and of Albert H. Cook, former county treasurer, both of whom fully endorse Mr. Coykendall's attitude regarding the elimination of the Broadway crossing and in addition point out that the cost of labor and material is at this time so high as to make it not only wasteful but extravagant for the city to embark upon an enterprise into which it is asked to contribute more than its legal share of the expense. Also they say that it will be impossible to finance the job at a normal rate of interest.

Edward Coykendall against the City of Kingston, Palmer Canfield, Jr., as mayor; Addison D. Pardee, as city treasurer; Charles A. Warren, Fred Lester, George A. Leverich, Edgar N. Parish, George C. Kiroch, Peter A. Kullmann, Henry G. Macholdt, Sherman Higgins, Frank A. Myers, William B. Martin, as aldermen; Alva S. Staples, Henry R. Brigham, Samuel M. Watts and David Burgevin, as commissioners of public works of the city of Kingston.

The plaintiff appearing in this action by A. T. Clearwater, his attorney, complaining of the defendants, respectfully shows to the court:

1.—That at all the times herein involved, he was and now is the owner of real property assessed in the city of Kingston, in the county of Ulster, in this state; that the sum of his assessments amounts to more than five thousand dollars ($5,000); that he is liable to pay taxes upon such assessments in the said city, and has been assessed thereon in more than the sum of five thousand dollars ($5,000) within one year previous to the commencement of this action; that his assessment and the taxes paid by him in the said city, and the interests which he personally represents directly and indirectly, for and for several years have paid between six and seven per cent of all the taxes assessed and collected in the said city.

2.—That the defendant, the City of Kingston, is a domestic municipal corporation, duly incorporated under the laws of this state by acts of the legislature hereof; that it is a city of the third class as defined by the constitution of the state, and is subject to the provisions of the laws governing such cities; that the defendant, Palmer Canfield, Jr., is its mayor; the defendant, Addison D. Pardee, is its treasurer; the defendants, Charles A. Warren, Fred Lester, George A. Leverich, Edgar N. Parish, George C. Kiroch, Peter A. Kullmann, Henry G. Macholdt, Sherman Higgins, Frank A. Myers, William B. Martin, as aldermen, composing the common council thereof; the defendants, Alva S. Staples, Henry R. Brigham, Samuel M. Watts and David Burgevin, with its mayor, are its commissioners of public works; that the jurisdiction and powers of the defendants, and the limitations upon their powers are fully and at large defined by an act to revise and consolidate the several acts in relation to the city of Kingston, to revise the charter of the said city, and to establish a city government, known as chapter 147 of the laws of the state of New York for the year 1896, together with such acts of the legislature as are amendments thereof and supplemental thereto, which act and acts constitute the charter of the said city.

3.—That at all the times herein involved, the West Shore Railroad, and the Wallkill Valley Railroad, and are steam surface railroads, each of which are leased and operated by the New York Central Railroad Company in and through the said city, and both of which cross at grade and are crossed at grade by Broadway, one of the public highways and streets of the city, and have so crossed and been crossed at grade for more than twenty years prior to the beginning of this action.

4.—That the official acts of all the defendants insofar as related to the matters herein involved, are subject to and controlled by the consolidated laws of the state of New York, particularly that portion of the said laws called "The Railroad Law," which among other things (with exceptions which do not here apply) provides in substance and effect that whenever a change is made as to an existing crossing or structure in a city of the third class, in accordance with the provisions of the said law, among other sections, sections 31 and 34 thereof, fifty per centum of the expense of such change shall be borne by the railroad corporation, and twenty-five per centum by the city.

5.—That on or about the 12th day of February, 1917, those of the defendants who constitute the mayor and common council of the city, filed with the public service commission, and district of this state, a petition predicated upon the said railroad law, and among other things, prayed that the said law be amended so that the city should be liable for the cost of the elimination of the Broadway crossing, and that they alleged in substance and

WILSON TO GO TO BATTLE BOLDLY

Will Wage Vigorous Offensive Campaign on His Record and Belief in That He Can Put Program Through and Pick the Candidate Despite Bryan and Other Discontenters.

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Washington, May 13.—The political plans of Woodrow Wilson, it was learned today, can be summed up in three words: A vigorous defense.

Democratic leaders in a position to know the president's intentions as nearly as any, declare that the president, feeling the administration guilty of any serious blunders, does not propose to have the Democratic party assume a defensive attitude, but to the contrary, every movement from this time on, must be aggressive right up to the November elections.

Likewise the president is known to be inspired by a positive conviction that not only has the course of his party been in the main correct, in peace and in war, but that it has been consistently constructive as well, hence the plan to take the field on this record. Those who know him well declare he will not tolerate any more digging in behind the administration's record, but will insist upon carrying it forward as a weapon squarely into the enemy lines in an endeavor to break through.

The fight has just begun so far as they are concerned, the administration's backers insist, and in the course of the next month or so, many believe, President Wilson will spring more than one strategic surprise.

Some expect the president to act in the political campaign pretty much on the advice he gave the American navy when it sailed to war. He said:

"I should like to see something unusual happen, something that was never done before, be audacious."

While the president's general political attitude is no longer a mystery and though it is known that he intends to wage a terrific offensive for the things the administration stands for, some of which he recently characterized as "the hope of the world," the details of his campaign have yet to be revealed.

Will be spring a surprise by offering himself for a third term on the ground that the league of nations has been made the paramount issue of the campaign and he and the league are inseparable. The highest available Democratic authorities say no, yet party opinion on the subject is not unanimous.

Some Democrats today persist in believing that "something that was never done before" will happen in this campaign and that this "something unusual" will be a nomination for a third term.

Those who scoff at the idea of a third term admit the president at least will insist upon the nomination of a Democrat of his own school of opinion as far as the treaty and league of nations are concerned.

This means a fight at the San Francisco convention which will not be squeezed down.

Leaders of the two big parties now make no attempt to conceal their belief that a new international row over the treaty is inevitable, both at San Francisco and Chicago. Nor is the result of either absolutely certain, a vote continuing to be mentioned as a possibility at both conventions.

Nevertheless, Democrats here claim that, by the time the delegates to the convention on the coast convene next month, the president will have the situation within his party fairly well in hand. They assert that while William J. Bryan, backed by the influence of such party men as Senator Owen of Oklahoma, Reed of Missouri; Chamberlain of Oregon; Hoke Smith of Georgia; former Senator Bailey of Texas; and others of the "reservationists" or "bitter end" school, will undoubtedly battle for a show down and get it, the president will be able to put over his program.

The president is described as in his old fighting form, eager for the fray and entirely able to give the political campaign of his party the precise orientation which he believes the party's record and platform to be call for.

NEW THEORY IN ARNSTEIN CHASE

Detectives Trying to Connect Slaying of Bond Thief With Colosimo Murder—Declared Colosimo Gave Tip That Led to Suspect's Arrest.

By Telegram to The Freeman.
New York, May 13.—Attorneys and detectives investigating the Arnstein bond theft plot involving securities valued at $5,000,000, are working today on a new theory that the slayers of Benjamin Binkowitz, absconding Wall street messenger, who got away with $170,000 worth of bonds, are responsible also for the murder of James Colosimo, Chicago café owner, on Tuesday.

It has been disclosed here that an Italian suspected of participation in the Binkowitz murder, has been arrested in Chicago and it is declared that Colosimo gave the authorities information which led to this suspect's arrest. The police here see in this a possible motive for the slaying of Colosimo.

State Attorney Macklay Hoynes of Chicago is coming here soon, it is reported, to aid in the examination of witnesses who have been subpoenaed in the Arnstein bankruptcy proceedings. It is intimated he may also seek information regarding securities believed to have been placed as collateral in banks or brokerage houses in Chicago by agents of Arnstein.

WALSH PREDICTS BRIGHT FUTURE

Lecturer Says We Are Too Close To Reconstruction Trials To See Real Results of War—Achievements of French Cited as Encouraging Belief.

The lecture given Wednesday evening at the high school by Dr. James Walsh on "Reconstruction" was a most interesting and enlightening talk, one which gave the large audience a new and clearer view of the present day problems and in a way peculiar to Dr. Walsh gave them a brighter outlook for the future.

Under the auspices of the Kingston Council, No. 275, Knights of Columbus, Dr. Walsh, who as a lecturer is by no means unknown to Kingston audiences, was brought to town to talk on "Reconstruction." Andrew J. Cook, president and w. c. w. of the large audience on behalf of the members of Kingston Council, Knights of Columbus, introduced him. Briefly Judge Hasbrouck commended the members of the Knights of Columbus on the true American spirit which the organization had shown during the recent war times and spoke of the organization, really at all times to give aid or assistance in an emergency or time of need.

Judge Hasbrouck touched upon the great world war and the outcome of it. He said that there had been a great war and now that the nations had won we no longer should have enemies. The conquered nations should no longer be enemies, but having conquered we should turn to them in a broad minded manner and assist them to get back to become again self supporting. Dr. Walsh was then presented to the people of Kingston and in his usual interesting and enlightening manner took up his subject, "Reconstruction."

In opening Dr. Walsh stated that he was an optimist. We had hoped and believed that at the end of the war everything would be peace and quiet and good times but we have found this not so. We are at present in a period of high prices and hard times but this period, he believed, would not last long and the world would soon see a change for the better. Dr. Walsh spoke of the 30 millions of people who directly or indirectly lost their lives as a result of the war and of the 350 billions of dollars which had been the cost of the war.

"We thought we had progressed too far to fight but we had the greatest war ever," said Dr. Walsh, and then asked the question what would we have said if someone had asked a short time ago if such a thing were possible? Any physician if asked a short time ago what the result would be if several millions of young men were suddenly taken from their work indoors and placed to live summer and winter in open ditches in all kinds of weather would have replied, said Dr. Walsh, that one-fourth of them would have died of pneumonia and many others would have died from other diseases. But this was done and comparatively few of them died of pneumonia.

When called upon to do the unusual thing we find we can do more than we ever thought was possible, and to illustrate this Dr. Walsh spoke of the French nation during the early part of the nineteenth century, after years of war and with the nation's supply of young men at lowest ebb, it was believed that the French nation would be years recovering before anything worth while could be done. It was believed that the nation would be at a standstill for years. But in the face of their losses the French nation had gone forward and immediately done what had seemed impossible. It was during this period that many of the most important discoveries were made and while the rest of Europe struggled to keep up, France went forward and accomplished what had appeared impossible.

"Make the world go through hard times and see what we can do" was perhaps the keynote of Dr. Walsh's talk.

He spoke of the return of the Crusaders and of the wonderful things which were accomplished by these men and expressed his confidence that the men who had returned from the present great war would likewise accomplish what may now seem impossible. The present day's need is an honest day's pay for an honest day's work.

Dr. Walsh expressed his belief that out of the great world war would come something beautiful and worth while, a period of progress, thought of at the present time when the only thing we see is the unrest caused by the readjustment from war conditions. We are living too close to the activities of today to see what tomorrow will bring and in an optimistic manner Dr. Walsh predicted great things for the future. A great things have come in the past at a time when things appeared darkest.

Previous to the lecture at the high school Dr. Walsh was dining by a number of the local physicians at Dr. Pessner's, where he spoke in the interest of the medical profession.

Battle to Decide Former President's Fate Goes on In Mountains at San Marcos With Rebels Being Reinforced—Monterey Reported Recaptured.

(By the International News Service.)

Mexican troops remaining loyal to Venustiano Carranza are making a stubborn stand at San Marcos, on the Vera Cruz-Mexico City Railway, 86 miles northwest of Vera Cruz. At last reports the battle was still raging in the mountains with the revolutionary forces under General Sanchez receiving heavy reinforcements. The outcome of this engagement is expected to decide the fate of Carranza.

The Mexican revolutionary agency in Washington stated that former Carranzista leaders "have practically all declared for the revolution." This agency was skeptical of the report circulated in El Paso that Saltillo, capital of the Mexican state of Coahuila has been captured by the Carranza forces.

An unconfirmed report reached San Antonio that Monterey, which went over to the revolutionists nearly a week ago, has been recaptured by 15,000 Carranza troops.

A former Carranza official who fled across the border declared that dimensions have broken out among revolutionary leaders.

Two thousand Mexican soldiers who were reported to have remained loyal to Carranza are said to be fighting the revolutionists in the state of Durango.

A number of former Carranza officials have fled into the United States from Northern Mexico.

Despite the victories claimed by the Oregon forces no word has come from Mexico City regarding the new revolutionary government.

This direct corner at first glance might be far from the land of anarchy we hear of, as it shows a building put up by "immigrants" on Hankow. Good roads, such as the one illustrated, and such accidental accidents are rare in China except in port cities and those of the interior which have been touched by foreign influence.

The middle tiers of seven edifices in the street moves at the rate of about two steps per minute and has at least on them all at most five or six. A few steam rollers have appeared, but most of the rolling is done by coolie power. Taken alone, this Hankow is a world of its own pressed into the eastern peninsula.

The Inter-Church World Movement, co-ordinating the efforts of the Protestant Churches in the United States, both in the home and foreign lands, has brought out many interesting facts from its recent survey.

Every Christian missionary has been found by the investigators to be an advance guard of civilization and every mission serves as a bureau of information on every known subject. Missionaries in their busiest hours have been called upon by progressive Chinese citizens to explain the operations of a steam roller and the ingredients of asphalt. It is upon such beginnings, it is claimed, that Christianity makes its way in the Orient.

CONFUCIUS' TOMB A SHRINE

Graveyard in Which Great Teacher is Buried Held Sacred to Him and His Descendants.

The graveyard of Shantung, China, lying one mile from the city gate, is a noble expression of the dignity and mystery of death, says Nathaniel Peffer in Scribner's Magazine. Leading to it from the gate is a broad avenue of trees spanned half way by a stone arch of exquisite carving and majestic lines. The graveyard proper, which is really a park, is enclosed in a pink wall.

Within the graveyard any member of King clan descendants of Confucius may be buried whether the person be a scholar or a coolie. At the farther end of the park is another wall behind which are the tombs of Confucius his son and his grandson. These consist of a pile up of earth, before which are a stone altar, a tablet inscribed with six Chinese characters, a stone urn flanked by two bronze candelsticks, and along its sides a few trees with shrubbery around it. The King family has enormous holdings of valuable property the government remitting the taxes on much of the property and appropriating periodically for the maintenance and repair of the cemetery.

BANISH DEMON OF INSOMNIA

Physician Declares "Balm Sleep" May Be Obtained by Following Advice He Gives

The other day a medical man, consulted by a patient who feared insomnia, instead of prescribing the expected drug merely told his patient how to sleep. The threatened insomnia was banished says London Answers. One should lie on the right side—not because this affects the heart, but because it relieves pressure on the digestive organs. But the right side is not "a full right." There should be a slight tilt to the left so that the right shoulder blade, and not just the shoulder, takes the weight.

The proper position is to elevate the feet three inches or so higher than the head and just to "crook" the legs slightly. Head pillows should not be used, or but just a small one. And that should come under the neck. Nature's pillow is the sleeper's own arm curved.

Bed clothing should be just sufficient for warmth. Overweight or over clothes—some sheets are tucked in much too tightly—induce restlessness which may easily develop into insomnia which is as much a habit as a disease.

Each individual has a nervous system which is his own and unlike any one else. It is therefore advisable in the case of persistent inability to sleep to move the bedstead. Try an east-west position instead of a north-south or vice-versa.

The sleeping result may surprise you.

MRS. REEL IN NEW PROFESSION

Very recently many people in Kingston have received a card announcing "Mrs. Gordon Reel, Interior decoration, 7 Green street, Kingston, telephone 11 Kingston," and there has been much questioning as to just what Mrs. Reel means by "interior decoration."

An interesting interview with Mrs. Reel brought out many facts relative to the new profession as far as Kingston goes. It does not mean wall papering and interior painting, etc., being a far bigger and broader matter.

Perhaps American homes have never meant more to American home-loving people, whether of little means or much, than they have since the war, and women, the home keepers are particularly anxious to make the most possible of their homes. At the same time, in the rush of present day living many dimly realize that a certain piece of furniture, hanging or bric-a-brac strikes a discordant note or that if properly utilized its value might be greatly enhanced. However, it is neglected and the owner gets deeper and deeper into the rut of accepting what she had come to think of as the inevitable.

Now, thanks to Mrs. Reel's profession, there will be the means at hand to help us out of our rut. And Ulster county homes have such unusual possibilities (by Ulster county we include Kingston) in the way of real antiques, beautiful scenery and roomy homes, even if small, for the "apartment house" hampers us but little as yet.

Mrs. Reel does not intend to encroach upon, but to make the most of every bit of individuality. While she may suggest the purchase of something new here or there, her idea is to utilize what people have, but in a way they may not have thought of.

Whether one wants to know just the kind of hangings to have in a room, just how to best place their furniture, how to give the whole room a different look, or to re-decorate or newly decorate an entire home, Mrs. Reel will be glad to consult with them regarding the matter. She will be as pleased to make a simple little cottage home all it can be, not only for today but for years as the most pretentious establishment, and that in the country as well as here in Kingston.

She had been gradually making a study of this line of endeavor for several years and she stated that for those wishing exclusive materials and designs, she will be able to secure approval for them, materials, etc., from Miss Swift's of New York city, whose advertising in "Vanity Fair" and "Vogue" attracts such attention.

Walter S. Maines, delivered a very excellent sermon, taking for his theme, "Honor to Whom Honor is Due." Two beautiful hymns were sung entitled, "Like a Cradle Rocking, Rocking," and "Faith of Our Mothers." Also "Jesus Saviour Pilot Me." The theme of the pastor's evening address was "Religion in the Home." The day's services were enjoyed by a large congregation. At the M. E. entitled "The Home of the Soul." At the evening service the 1st anniversary of the Epworth League was observed with an appropriate service. The chief thought of the service was "Our Young People as Citizens." The installation of officers for the ensuing year took place at this service.

At a recent meeting of the local W. C. T. U. it was decided to offer the large basement of Hunt Memorial Hall to the Boy Scouts for their home for three months. A PLAIN STATEMENT OF POLICY

BY THE COMMUNITY FUND

Seven organizations, the Benedictine Sanitarium, Y. M. C. A., Salvation Army, Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts, Industrial Home and the Agency for Dependent Children will be included in the Kingston Community Fund.

Except in the case of some public emergency such as an epidemic no other organizations will receive any support from this fund.

The Tuberculosis Hospital, The Home for the Aged and the Kingston City Hospital are omitted at this time because they have advised us that they have all necessary and required funds for maintenance and current expenses for this year.

No funds for building purposes are included, and organizations contemplating building are free to conduct separate campaigns.

The same thing is true of membership campaigns which will be carried on as heretofore by the organizations involved.

So far as can be anticipated no existing social welfare agencies, except membership organizations, will find it necessary to make an appeal during the coming year for funds to be used for maintenance purposes.

SOCIALISTS SEEN TO LURE LABOR

By Telegram to The Freeman.
New York, May 13.—A coalition between the Socialist party and the Labor party which is to be formed in Chicago in July is regarded as a hopeful possibility today by Socialist leaders. It is not unlikely that negotiations will be begun shortly to bring this about.

The Socialists have paved the way for such a union by adopting a conservative program, designed to appeal particularly to the laboring men. The Socialists met the labor issues by including a plank which set forth that the Socialists supported all labor leader's struggle, but took no part in their differences.

The Socialists believe that the "rump" labor vote this year will be large. They base their belief to a great extent on the strength shown by the "Outlaw" railroad strikers and the sporadic outbreaks of "leaderless" strikes in all parts of the country. Never, they believe, has the dissatisfaction and unrest among labor been so pronounced.

Some outlet for political expression must be afforded these dissatisfied ones and they intend to make that outlet the Socialist party, if it is at all possible.

The Socialists expect to pile up a record of 3,000,000 votes this year. If they can effect a junction with the insurgent labor party they believe this poll can be run up to 5,000,000 votes, which, while not enough to elect a president, would nevertheless constitute a formidable club to use on whichever party does come into power.

Carranza Generals Cross Border.

They fled across the border following the taking over of the Mexican City Wednesday by General Morales, a rebel commander. The city, like Juarez, was taken without a shot being fired.

MUSICIANS IN ARTISTIC RECITAL

Miss Kearney and Mrs. Dunbar Delighted Dodge Studio Audience—Bright Future Predicted For Miss Kearney Who Is Musician of Talent As Well As Aesthetic Dancer.

That many friends of Mr. and Mrs. Harry P. Dodge are indebted to them for a most delightful and unusual evening of music on Wednesday, when Mr. Dodge's artist pupil, Miss Katharine Kearney, gave a piano recital at the Dodge studio on Green street, assisted by Mrs. H. F. Dunbar, soprano.

Miss Kearney as an aesthetic dancer of exceptional gifts is well known and affectionately admired, but only those who have been privileged to hear her play at the Dodge pupils' recital have, perhaps, fully appreciated how that gift is overshadowed by Miss Kearney's greater gift of musicianship. While a sweet, modest girl, still in her teens, whom it is a pleasure to know, Miss Kearney, on Wednesday evening evinced marked talent of a very high order, and always she shows the mind and heart of the real artist, which if the expression were not so hackneyed, one could call "artistic temperament." And quite aside from her exceptional musicianship, to have memorized such a program was a mental feat worthy of note.

And one could not have chosen a vocalist to assist Miss Kearney in her evening's program, who would have been more charming or who could have more graciously and artistically fitted into the spirit of the evening, than Mrs. Dunbar, whose singing has already delighted those Kingstonians who have been privileged to hear her.

Miss Kearney opened the program with the Beethoven Rondo in C, Op. 51, No. 1, which is such a refreshing composition and yet makes such exacting demands upon the performer. It was noteworthy throughout the entire program that Miss Kearney possesses a most unusual depth and richness of tone in her playing, a quality especially essential in Beethoven's pianoforte music. The rendition of this number was clean-cut, well phrased and showed a fine appreciation of the beauties of the work, and was enthusiastically applauded.

Mrs. Dunbar in her charming Grecian costume of white satin seemed to especially suit the first number which she sang with so much of grace and beauty of voice and expression, "Nymphs and Shepherds," by Purcell, a quaint pastoral song. Mrs. Dunbar, accompanied by Mr. Dodge was given particularly appreciative applause.

When Miss Kearney appeared the second time it was to play a group of Chopin numbers that would make serious demands upon a mature artist. And, by the way, it requires exceptional versatility on the part of any musician to grasp the dignity of Beethoven's works, the exquisite delicacy and romance of Chopin's music, the sentiment of Schumann, the weirdness of Rachmaninoff, and the imagery of MacDowell, as did Miss Kearney.

Undoubtedly the Chopin group was Miss Kearney's best performance of the evening. She played the lovely Nocturne, Op. 32, No. 1, less frequently heard, with niceness of execution and excellent interpretation. This was followed by one of the most thoroughly characteristic of the Mazurkas, the Op. 7, No. 1 which was played with a fine abandon. Especially enjoyable were the two Preludes, Op. 28, Nos. 10 and 11, while Miss Kearney measured up to her highest gifts and attainment in her playing of the Impromptu, Op. 66, which she played far more as an artist than a student and a young student at that. In response to the continued applause she played the beautiful nocturnous waltz by Chopin, and played it with a spirit and execution that was indeed fine.

Mrs. Dunbar's last group of songs included "A Proposal," by M. T. Salter, in which the power of her voice was shown, as well as its sweetness; "The Lover's Flute," a tragic number admirably rendered; and the lovely "From the Land of the Sky Blue Water," both by C. W. Cadman. The applause after the last number was so continuous that Mrs. Dunbar was cooed enough to repeat it, greatly to the satisfaction and pleasure of her audience.

Miss Kearney closed the program with a Schumann "Arabesque," "Melodie in E Major," by Rachmaninoff, rich in color, and massive in harmonic effect; and MacDowell's "Witches' Dance." In the last number Miss Kearney showed particularly the poise and control that she has gained since her last public performance, for this fascinating number by MacDowell is a tricky composition as far as technique is concerned.

There can be no question, that with unstinted and incessant hard work, the price of being an artist, Miss Kearney possesses talent that will bring her to the concert stage, and both the young lady and her teacher are to be warmly congratulated upon the strides already taken along the difficult and beckoning road to artistic success.

Following the program Mr. and Mrs. Dodge served light refreshments.

Sea Serpents Really Exist.

Although many of us may have an idea that sea serpents exist nowhere but in fiction, that is not the case, and of all snakes they are the most venomous. In tropical waters they are easily numerous, especially in the Indian ocean, where they are often seen literally by hundreds swimming at the surface of the water. They are six to eight feet long, very fierce and will commonly attack human beings. Their bodies are flat and almost wholly filled by the lungs.

Pollen Carried Far by Wind.

Wind-blown pollen ("sulphur rain") is known to be carried far. Hesselman, of the Swedish experiment station, reports a quite extensive rain of tree pollen on two fire ships 20 and 27 miles from shore; and the pollen of algae is known to have been carried even as far as 200 miles.

Ira Nelson Morris, American minister to Sweden, has been ordered to Berlin from Stockholm, according to a dispatch from Berlin. It is understood he will take over American affairs in Berlin, relieving Theodore Dreier, who has been acting as American commissioner for some months. The impression exists, according to the dispatch, that Minister Morris will be named American ambassador to Germany just as soon as peace between the two countries is proclaimed.

Frank J. Trimble returned to his home in Brooklyn on Sunday after spending several weeks at the home of his uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Irving Deane.

Mrs. B. Frankel spent Friday in Kingston. Mrs. Vincent Quinn entertained Mrs. Caroline Gindrat of Kingston for a few days the past week.

Mrs. Blanche Sherwood of Pleasant Valley spent Wednesday in this place. Mr. and Mrs. Otto Drake and daughter of Poughkeepsie spent the week end with Mrs. Drake's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Luke Connor. Rev. and Mrs. A. J. Allen entertained company from out of town on Thursday.

Wrap All Tools.

All good tools should be wrapped up, otherwise they will rust, and rust dulls their cutting edges. The careful carpenter wraps his tools in a woolen cloth well oiled. The careful chauffeur wraps all polished tools before putting them in the tool box and keeps them away from the storage battery, the fumes of which will quickly rust them.

For fate had seized them—a snobbish family of British blue-bloods cast them on an island where the voice of the world was lost. Tumbled there, lord and butler, lady and scullery maid, into a common mass of males and females.

Nature makes no distinction between blue blood and red blood, and the butler, because he was a man and could best "serve" his fellow men, became their leader.

And the cultured lady who once despised him, came to know his great heart and to love him.

And there were no rich or poor, and the only reward for anyone was the power to serve and be useful.

And only those who were not willing to "serve" found themselves cold and hungry.
